Landscape & Discovery

Horizon scan in seconds

Get a clear understanding of a research landscape at a glance

To make strategic research decisions, you need to understand the current research landscape. However, that usually means running multiple searches and analyzing mountains of data – and that can be a long and daunting task.

Making the process quick and simple, Dimensions lets you create your own customized landscape analysis dashboards, explore complex insights with ease and make better strategic decisions.
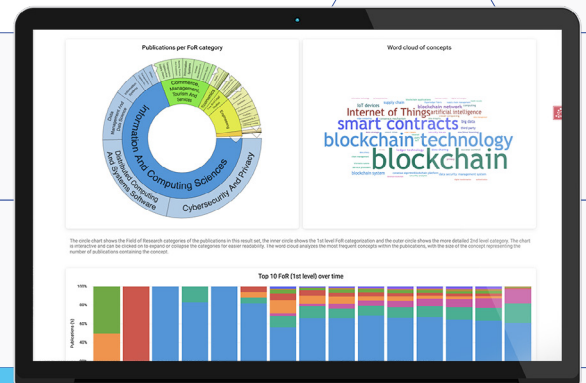

Uncover relationships and connections

Visually explore publicly-funded research projects, see the growth in publications over time, and easily discover potential partners in specific fields

Track trends

Uncover relationships and connections, track trends and perform analyses, and fill knowledge gaps quickly as you tap into over 126 million publications, grants, patents and clinical trials

Fill knowledge gaps quickly

Search any keywords, create your personal dashboard, explore information on publications, grants, patents and more, and understand the research landscape at a glance
