Our Journal

Science Editing aims to improve the culture and well-being of humanity by enhancing the quality of editing and publishing in scientific, technical, and medical journals.

Its primary audience includes editors, publishers, reviewers, and authors worldwide, with a particular focus on Asia. For the past 13 years, Science Editing has aimed to ensure journal quality while expanding the visibility and accessibility of scholarly publications.

We do not charge any fees on authors for page charges or article processing charges. We invite and encourage submissions from all interested authors.
